The Articles in this Issue were primarily inspired by presentations at the Louisiana Law Review's 2013 Symposium, Eastern District of Louisiana: The Nation's MDL Laboratory, held on March 22, 2013, at the Louisiana State University Paul M. Hebert Law Center. This symposium brought together leading federal judges, attorneys, and scholars from around the country to discuss multidistrict litigation and some of the many procedural and administrative innovations that have been forged by the Eastern District of Louisiana. The Board of Editors is indebted to LSU Law Associate Professor Margaret S. Thomas and thanks her for her assistance in moderating the event. Further, the Board of Editors would like to thank those who were instrumental in planning the symposium, including Professor Francis McGovern, the Honorable Eldon Fallon, and the Honorable Lee Rosenthal.
