GENERAL INFORMATION

SUBMISSIONS: The Editors of the Louisiana Law Review welcome the submission of unpublished articles, essays, notes, and commentaries covering emerging issues in Louisiana, national, international, civil, and comparative law topics. The Louisiana Law Review encourages electronic submissions. Please send submissions by e-mail to lawreviewsubmissions@lsu.edu in Microsoft Word format or through Scholastica. Physical submissions may be sent to: Louisiana Law Review, Articles Editor, Paul M. Hebert Law Center, Louisiana State University, 1 East Campus Drive, Rm. W114, Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70803. Consistent with our continuing effort to improve journal quality, we prefer articles under 25,000 words, including footnotes. We reserve the right to publish longer manuscripts under exceptional circumstances. Textual style and usage should conform to Bryan Garner's The Redbook: A Manual on Legal Style (3d ed. 2013). Footnotes should conform to the Louisiana Law Review Streamlined Citation Manual and The Bluebook: A Uniform System of Citation (20th ed. 2015). The Board of Editors reserves the right to make such alterations in style and format as it considers necessary.

LEGAL COPYRIGHT NOTICE: The views expressed in this periodical are to be attributed to the authors and not the Law Review, its Editors, or the Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors. Except as otherwise provided herein, the author of every article in this issue has granted permission, in whole or in part, for copies of that work to be reproduced for educational purposes (including for distribution to students), provided that the copies are distributed at or below cost and accurately cite the article. The standard citation will identify the author (and any co-authors), the Louisiana Law Review, the volume, the number of the first page, and the year of the article's publication in the Louisiana Law Review. For all other requests to reproduce materials appearing in the Louisiana Law Review, please contact us at the address below.
