

Annual Institute on Mineral Law

Volume 56 The 56th Annual Institute on Mineral Law

Article 23

4-2-2009

Speaker Bios

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.law.lsu.edu/mli_proceedings

Part of the Oil, Gas, and Mineral Law Commons

Repository Citation

(2009) "Speaker Bios," Annual Institute on Mineral Law: Vol. 56 , Article 23.

Available at: http://digitalcommons.law.lsu.edu/mli_proceedings/vol56/iss1/23

This Addendum is brought to you for free and open access by the Mineral Law Institute at LSU Law Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Annual Institute on Mineral Law by an authorized editor of LSU Law Digital Commons. For more information, please contact kayla.reed@law.lsu.edu.

Speaker Bios
The 56TH Mineral Law Institute
April 2 & 3, 2009
LSU Law Center

ROBERT S. ANGELICO is a shareholder in the New Orleans office of the law firm of Liskow & Lewis, APLC, where he heads up the firm's tax practice. Mr. Angelico concentrates a significant part of his practice in the area of Louisiana state and local taxation representing multinational, national, and local clients. He assists clients in connection with state and parish tax audits, tax planning strategies, and in administrative appeals and state and local tax litigation, involving all areas of Louisiana taxation. Mr. Angelico earned his accounting degree from LSU and his law degree from Loyola University. He is a board certified tax specialist and a licensed certified public accountant. He has been listed in Best Lawyers in America in the specialty of tax law for the past several years. He is the past chairman of the Louisiana Tax Conference Committee, the Louisiana Taxation Committee, and the Legislation Committee for the Society of Louisiana Certified Public Accountants (LCPA). He is currently the Treasurer of the LCPA. Mr. Angelico has over twenty seven years experience in the tax field, the last 22 years as a lawyer with Liskow & Lewis. He is the past chairman of the Taxation Section of the Louisiana State Bar Association, and the past President of the New Orleans Chapter of the LCPA. For several years Mr. Angelico has taught courses for the LCPA on Louisiana Sales and Use Tax, Louisiana Ad Valorem Taxation, and Louisiana Tax Incentive Programs, and he is a frequent author and lecturer on Louisiana state and local tax topics.

MARK DAVIS is a Senior Research Fellow at Tulane University Law School and Director of the Institute on Water Resources Law and Policy at the Law School. He comes to the Institute after 14 years as the Executive Director of the Coalition to Restore Coastal Louisiana where he was extensively involved in shaping laws, policies and programs at the state and federal level dealing the restoration and stewardship of coastal ecosystems. Prior to that time he practiced law in Washington DC and Chicago. He has also been an adjunct professor at IIT Chicago Kent School of Law and Indiana University's School of Business in Indianapolis. He has a JD, with honors, from Indiana University and an MLT from the Georgetown University Law Center. Mr. Davis has written and lectured widely on matters related to coastal and water resource management and has testified before White House and Congressional panels on numerous occasions. He has been recognized for his work with a Louisiana Legend Award from the Louisiana Environmental Action Network and an Environmental Hero award from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

MICHAEL B. DONALD is a partner in the law firm of Lemle & Kelleher, L.L.P. and practices in the firm's Houston, TX office. Mr. Donald's areas of specialty include complex civil litigation, energy (environmental, litigation, and regulation), toxic tort and environmental litigation, litigation concerning and regulation of electric utilities, products liability; and contract and commercial litigation. His professional experience includes litigation involving the oil and gas, electric utility, natural gas transmission, mining, and transportation industries. He has recently served as counsel on various interstate and intrastate pipeline and storage projects (salt dome and depleted reservoir) and has served as trial counsel on condemnation/expropriation litigation in Louisiana and Texas. Mr. Donald has served as trial counsel in various environmental litigation involving jurisdictional, LDEQ and EPA enforcement, penalty and corrective action issues arising under RCRA, CERCLA, OPA, Clean Air and Clean Water Acts and Louisiana Superfund legislation. This experience includes private cost recovery and citizen action suits, subsurface trespass, groundwater contamination, migration of hazardous chemicals, property value diminution; environmental audit supervision; and risk-based corrective action. He is a native of Covington, Louisiana, earning a Bachelor of Arts degree, with honors in history and Latin American studies, in 1982 from Tulane University, and a Juris Doctor in 1985 from Paul M. Hebert Law Center, Louisiana State University. After obtaining his Juris Doctor, he served as law clerk from 1985 to 1987 to the Honorable Donald E. Walter, United States District Judge for the Western District of Louisiana. He is admitted to practice before all state and federal courts in Louisiana and Texas, the Federal Court of Claims in Washington, D.C., and the United States Supreme Court.

GREGORY G. DUPLANTIS is a partner in the law firm of Gordon Arata McCollam Duplantis & Eagan, LLP, and practices in the firm's Lafayette, LA office. His practice centers on oil and gas property title examination and contracts as well as oil and gas and general business litigation. Greg also frequently represents clients before Louisiana state agencies governing oil and gas matters, including unitization issues, state leasing and pipelines. He is a 1996 graduate of LSU Paul M. Hebert Law Center. Greg was a member of the United States National Track and Field Teams, 1988-1993; the Reebok World Racing Club, 1988-1993; the Athletics Congress, 1986-1993; and International Amateur Athletics Federation, 1986-1993. In addition, he was a U.S. Olympics Trials Qualifier in 1984, 1988, 1992, 1996. He was a professional track and field athlete from 1986-1993 and was named a scholar athlete and All American pole vaulter in 1979-1981, 1986. He is fluent in Swedish.

LOUIS F. GILBERT is principal of Louis Gilbert & Associates, Inc., Consulting Geologists, in Metairie, Louisiana.

PROFESSOR EMERITUS THOMAS A. HARRELL was Director of the Mineral Law Institute at LSU Law Center from 1979-2006. After teaching law at LSU Law Center for twenty-three years, Professor Harrell retired from the LSU faculty in 1996, but maintains an active private consultant practice. He received his law degree in 1951 from LSU, where he was Associate Editor of the Louisiana Law Review and a member of the Order of the Coif. After graduation, he became an attorney for the Louisiana Department of Revenue, serving as acting chief counsel for part of that time. He then joined the Shreveport firm of Blanchard, Walker, O'Quin & Roberts in 1953 and became a partner in 1960. In 1970, he moved to Dallas to become vice president of Cenard Oil and Gas Company and its subsidiaries in Texas, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Oklahoma. Professor Harrell then joined the LSU Law Center faculty in 1973. He remains active in the Louisiana State Law Institute where he is a member of the Mineral Code Committee, Security Devices Committee, Louisiana Commercial Laws Committee, Uniform Commercial Code Committee, and Tax Sales Committee, and Reporter of the Registry Committee. He has served as a Fulbright Scholar and Visiting Professor to universities in France and Belgium.

CHERYL MOLLERE KORNICK is a shareholder in the New Orleans, LA office of Liskow & Lewis. She is chair of the firm's technology committee and is highly experienced in the use of computerized litigation support. Ms. Kornick is a frequent speaker on energy litigation issues. Her background in this area includes royalty and mineral lease issues, energy marketing, contracts disputes, expropriation actions and oil well lien actions. She graduated first in her class at Loyola University School of Law where she was Articles Editor for Loyola Law Review. Ms. Kornick even argued a case before the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit while still a law student. She has extensive experience in energy litigation, class action proceedings, False Claims Act litigation and alternative dispute resolution, including AAA arbitrations and mediations. She regularly appears before the Louisiana Supreme Court. Louisiana state and local tax issues are also part of Ms. Kornick's practice. Her experience includes severance tax, sales and use tax, ad valorem tax and corporate income and franchise tax. Working closely with the firm's tax attorneys, Ms. Kornick regularly represents taxpayers against the Louisiana Department of Revenue and local taxing authorities in matters before the Louisiana Courts, Louisiana Tax Commission and Louisiana Board of Tax Appeals. She has successfully taken numerous state and local tax matters from trial to final disposition in the Courts of Appeal and the Louisiana Supreme Court.

BRUCE M. KRAMER is Of Counsel to the law firm of McGinnis, Lochridge & Kilgore, L.L.P. in Houston, TX. He is a long-time professor at Texas Tech University School of Law (1974-2007). Bruce is a preeminent oil, gas, energy, and land use legal scholar and the co-author of several important books that have become the definitive references for energy lawyers, including two multi-volume treatises, The Law of Pooling and Unitization and Williams and Meyers Oil and Gas Law (since 1996), as well as the last three editions of the Manual of Oil and Gas Terms. Bruce also is an authority on land use, zoning, and the conflicts that arise between mineral property owners. Among his many accomplishments, Bruce's books and legal articles have been cited as authority in numerous court rulings and appellate opinions, including decisions of the Supreme Courts of Texas, Alaska, Louisiana, Montana, New Mexico, and North Dakota; the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit; the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit; and numerous Federal District Courts. Bruce has prepared papers and spoken at more than 80 continuing education programs for lawyers and other professionals in the oil and gas and real estate/land use industry. He is a Trustee in the Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation and the Energy and Mineral Law Foundation. He was awarded the Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation's Clyde O. Martz Teaching Award in 2007, among many other awards and recognitions for his achievements. He received a J.D. from the University of California Los Angeles Law School, and an LL.M. from the University of Illinois College of Law.

LAMBERT M. LAPEROUSE is a partner in the law firm of Gieger, Laborde & Laperouse, LLC. He practices in the firm's New Orleans office. Mr. Laperouse has been involved in transactional matters related to the oil and gas industry in the Gulf South for over twenty-five years. His experience particularly emphasizes title examination with respect to oil and gas exploration and production. He has substantial experience in negotiating and reviewing contracts and other due diligence activities in connection with acquisitions and divestitures of properties situated onshore in the Gulf region and on the federal outer continental shelf. His undergraduate education was at LSU. Since graduating from Loyola University School of Law in 1979, Mr. Laperouse has served as an adjunct professor of law at Loyola teaching Oil and Gas Law. While in law school, he was a member of the Loyola Law Review. His involvement with a subcommittee of the American Petroleum Institute resulted in his drafting the model form Shelf OCS Operating Agreement. Likewise, as a subcommittee member of the American Association of Professional Landmen, he assisted in the drafting of the model form Deepwater OCS Operating Agreement. His participation in these industry-driven organizations has provided him with a unique understanding of OCS contracting specifics. He is a member of the

Petroleum Landmen's Association of New Orleans (Past Board Member)
American Association of Professional Landmen, Louisiana State Bar Association American Bar Association New Orleans Bar Association.

JAMIE S. MANUEL is a partner of Mayhall & Blaize, LLC. Jamie earned his Juris Doctorate from the Paul M. Hebert Law School at Louisiana State University in 2001 and joined Gordon, Arata, McCollam, Duplantis & Eagan as an associate in the oil and gas section. Mr. Manuel's private practice has included representing oil and gas clients in a wide variety of litigation matters in state and federal court, title examination, resolving regulatory issues involving the State Mineral Board and Office of Conservation, drafting of oil and gas related agreements, and rendering opinions on day to day operational issues. Mr. Manuel worked for the Louisiana Attorney General, serving as Counsel for the Louisiana Mineral Board, where he worked to resolve everyday oil and gas issues, negotiated compromises of disputes between the State and landowners or operators, drafted oil and gas legislation and served as co-counsel in the State's lawsuit against the U.S. Minerals Management Service. Mr. Manuel worked closely with the Secretary of DNR, DNR staff, Mineral Board members, State Land Office and Commissioner of Conservation. Mr. Manuel joined Mayhall & Blaize, L.L.C. as an associate in 2006 and became a partner in 2007. Mr. Manuel is a member of The Institute for Energy Law, Professional Landmen's Association of New Orleans, Houston Association of Professional Landmen and the Federal Bar Association, Baton Rouge Section. Mr. Manuel has written articles for oil and gas publications and given educational seminars for oil and gas professionals.

CRAIG W. MURRAY is a partner in the Houston, TX office of Vinson & Elkins where his primary area of practice is corporate and energy-related finance, with special emphasis on workouts and loan restructuring, lender liability, oil and gas finance, syndicated finance, structured finance, and asset securitization. His corporate finance experience includes representing lenders and borrowers in loan workouts and restructuring and in structuring and documenting debt-financing transactions, as well as investments by banks and mezzanine lenders. This work has involved traditional commercial loans, asset securitizations, project financings, leveraged buy-out financings, real estate financings, and loan workouts. Mr. Murray's experience in energy finance has involved oil and gas properties in Texas, Louisiana, and all major oil and gas producing states, as well as offshore properties in the Gulf Coast. Education and Professional Background: Louisiana State University Law Center, J.D., 1976 (Order of the Coif; Omicron Delta Kappa; Managing Editor, Louisiana Law Review); Rhodes College, B.A., 1969; United States Marine Corps, Captain, 1969-73 (including a tour in the Republic of Vietnam in 1971-1972); Admitted to practice:

Texas, 1976; Louisiana, 1976. Professional recognitions: The Best Lawyers in America® in banking law, 2006 -2009; in corporate law, 2008 – 2009; Chambers USA: America's Leading Business Lawyers in banking & finance law, 2004-2009; Who's Who Legal: Texas in banking law, 2007 – 2009; Texas Super Lawyers" in banking, Texas Monthly, 2004-2005; "The Best Lawyers in Houston," H Texas magazine, 2004. Activities and affiliations: Member: American Bar Association; Texas Bar Association; Houston Bar Association; Faculty: State Bar of Texas continuing legal education programs on bank financing; Louisiana Mineral Law Institute; Texas Association of Bank Counsel, Louisiana Bankers Association. Mr. Murray has been a speaker for numerous seminars and continuing legal education programs relating to loan restructuring, lender liability, oil and gas finance, structured finance, legal drafting, and the basics of secured transactions.

RICHARD W. "RICK" REVELS, JR. is a shareholder practicing in the energy section of Liskow & Lewis' office in Lafayette, Louisiana. He has twenty-eight years experience in general oil and gas title and contract matters and regularly practices before the Louisiana Office of Conservation and State Mineral Board. Mr. Revels received a Bachelor's Degree from Louisiana State University in 1972, a Bachelor's Degree and Master's Degree from Louisiana Tech University in 1975, and a Law Degree from Louisiana State University in 1980. He graduated Order of the Coif and served as an Associate Editor of the Louisiana Law Review. After a clerkship with Justice James L. Dennis of the Louisiana Supreme Court, he joined Liskow & Lewis in 1981. Mr. Revels is a member of the Lafayette Bar Association, the Louisiana Bar Association and American Bar Association. He is also a member of the Lafayette Association of Professional Landmen, Houston Association of Professional Landmen, American Association of Professional Landmen and Louisiana Oil & Gas Association. He serves as an adjunct professor at the University of Louisiana at Lafayette in the Petroleum Land Management curriculum. He is a frequent lecturer on oil and gas topics and presented Selected Problems Associated with Directionally-Drilled Wells, at the 47th Annual Institute on Mineral Law in 2000 and Leasing and Operating on Lands Owned by the State of Louisiana at the 39th Annual Institute on Mineral Law in 1992. He also coauthored "A Comparison of Texas and Louisiana Oil and Gas Law for the Landman," published in three parts in Landman, Volumes 40, Nos. 1, 2 and 3 (1995).

MICHAEL H. RUBIN is one of the managing partners of the multi-state firm of McGlinchey Stafford and has an active finance, commercial litigation, and appellate practice. He has presented over 225 papers on ethics, professionalism, real estate and other topics throughout the United States, England, and Canada; his writings on ethics and professionalism have been utilized in law school courses around the country. Mr. Rubin is the author, co-author, and contributing writer of 11 books and more than 30 law review articles and periodicals. He has served as president of the American College of Real Estate Lawyers, the U.S. Fifth Circuit Bar Association, the Louisiana State Bar Association, and the Southern Conference of Bar Presidents. He is a member of the American Law Institute, the American College of Commercial Finance Lawyers, and the American College of Mortgage Attorneys. For more than three decades he has taught courses in real estate finance as a adjunct professor at Tulane Law School, L.S.U. Law School, and other law schools. He currently serves as Chair of the Ethics Committee of the ABA's Real Property Section.

RYAN M. SEIDEMANN holds a B.A. and an M.A. in anthropology from Florida State University and Louisiana State University, respectively, and he is a Registered Professional Archaeologist. He also holds a J.D. and a B.C.L. from LSU's Paul M. Hebert Law Center. He is an Assistant Attorney General and the Chief of the Lands & Natural Resources Section in the Civil Division of the Louisiana Department of Justice. He has been with the Department of Justice for four years. Before that, Ryan was employed as a professional archaeologist. In addition to his legal work and research, Ryan actively continues his anthropological research in such areas as human skeletal biology and cemetery studies, including being the project bioarchaeologist on the Katrina Memorial Project and being the principal investigator for excavations currently ongoing at Baton Rouge's Historic Highland Cemetery.

GERALD F. SLATTERY is a partner in the New Orleans law firm of Schully, Roberts, Slattery & Marino. His practice areas include: Commercial Litigation; Energy Litigation; Securities Litigation; Creditors' Rights; Lender Liability. Mr. Slattery received a J.D. in 1978 from Tulane University where he was a Member of the Board of Student Editors (1976-1977) and Managing Editor (1977-1978) of Tulane Law Review; and a Senior Teaching Fellow of Legal Research and Writing (1977-1978). He is a member of New Orleans and Louisiana State (Member, Antitrust Law, Banking Law and Litigation Sections) Bar Associations; Professional Landmen's Association of New Orleans; American Association of Professional Landmen.

PROFESSOR GREG SMITH is the G. Frank & Winston Purvis Professor of Law at the Paul M. Hebert Law Center at Louisiana State University. He did his undergraduate work at Yale and graduated with honors. He obtained his Juris Doctor degree from Brigham Young University, where he was an article editor for the BYU Law Review, and was designated as a J. Reuben Clark Scholar. Following law school, Professor Smith served as a law clerk to Judge Monroe G. McKay of the United States Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals. He practiced law for over 11 years in Phoenix, Arizona before joining the LSU law faculty in 1991. He teaches common law property, civil law property, land use planning, commercial paper, and legal profession. His recent published writings have dealt with judicial conduct, legal ethics, and property law – including a book entitled Louisiana Judicial Conduct (Birdfoot Delta Press 2006), and a book which he coauthored entitled Louisiana Lawyering (West Group 2007). Professor Smith contributes to the comprehensive, 15-volume treatise, Thompson on Real Property (Michie 2007), with the chapter on the “Rights and Duties of Landlords and Tenants.”

RANDALL C. SONGY practices in the areas of oil & gas, energy law, mediation and arbitration with the Onebane Law Firm in Lafayette, LA. He received his J.D. in 1977 from the Louisiana State University Law Center where he was a member of Law Review (1976-1977) and the Order of the Coif. He is a member of the Louisiana State Bar Association, Member of the Council, Mineral Law Section and Alternative Dispute Resolution Section; the Federal Energy Bar Association, Lafayette Parish Bar Association, American Bar Association, Lafayette Association of Professional Landmen, American Association of Professional Landmen, Independent Petroleum Association of American and the Louisiana Independent Oil and Gas Association.

PAUL A. STRICKLAND is a Partner in the Shreveport law firm of Hargrove, Smelley, Strickland & Langley, P.L.C. The focus of his practice is energy law. He earned a degree in history from Louisiana State University in 1977, and a law degree from LSU Law Center in 1980. He is a member of the Shreveport and Louisiana State Bar Associations. Mr. Strickland has an “AV” peer review rating in the Martindale-Hubbell directory.